Scott Harper has devoted the majority of his practice to the litigation of civil matters for nearly 20 years. He has represented both plaintiffs and defendants in a variety of matters including personal injury, probate, real estate disputes, commercial litigation and corporate/partnership dissolution. He has also assisted clients in business formation, contract negotiation and work place disputes. Mr. Harper has worked on behalf of nation-wide corporations as well as small, closely held businesses, family farming entities and non-profit organizations. While his offices are conveniently located in Stockton, he is available for mediations throughout the state.
